RE: Pacific Sport Institute

Dear Roger:

On behalf of Diving Plongeon Canada, the national sport organization for Canadian diving, I would like to express the association's support for the opening of the Pacific Sport Institute (PSI) at Camosun College.

Diving has been a part of PacificSport Victoria since its early days in 1996, taking advantage of the different levels of partnerships it has to offer and utilizing it as a regional centre for Victoria-area diving programs. We have seen the growth and evolution of PacificSport from its inception, when it was just an idea, to its success today, operating as a full support organization that leads the country in terms of structure and effectiveness. Because of the positive relationship and the successful experience that we have had over the years with PacificSport, Diving Canada has recently decided to locate a national diving centre in Victoria.

The state-of-the-art complex at Camosun College will be an outstanding addition to our high performance Canadian athletes and we are thrilled by the prospect of being able to host training camps at the college, utilize the new complement of dry land facilities as well as take advantage of its applied research and innovation program.

In general, we feel that the addition of the PSI will be a huge benefit to our sport both at the national and regional levels. We have every confidence that the PSI will be maximized by all athletes and coaches, and its programs and services will translate into even more podium success for Canada at the international level.

Sincerely,

Penny Joyce
Chief Operating Officer
